

SUMMER

SAFETY TIPS FOR PETS

CAREFUL WITH THE WATER (BEACH & POOL)

- Keep them cool to avoid heat stroke
- Avoid the hottest parts of the day
- Give them floaties to help them swim
- Don't let them drink sea water and stagnant water
- Always keep an eye on your pets
- Put sunscreen for pets on parts with thinner fur (nose and ears)

COOKING OUT?

Know what foods are good or bad for your pets. Meat with barbeque sauce and corn cobs aren't good for our fur friends. Also, careful on the ice cream.

CARS AND QUICK ERRANDS

Never leave your dog in the car even for just a quick errand in the store. Bring them with you if you can.

WALKING ON SIDEWALKS

Sidewalks can be too hot for your pet to walk on. Try a different route and avoid asphalt and rough pavements. One tip is to look for shady sidewalks to walk your dog.

EXERCISE? CHANGE SCHEDULE!

Take a walk or play outdoors when it's cool, like in the morning or at night.

GOING OUTDOORS?

Always, always carry a bottle of water anywhere you go to keep your pet hydrated and to avoid heat stroke.

COOL TREATS

Give your pets some ice pops or ice cubes with tasty treats to keep your pets cool because hey, it's summer.

VISIT THE VET

Parvoviruses spread in the hot season and more time outdoors may expose your pet to different types of diseases. Add an extra layer of protection by keeping them on their year-round preventives.

KEEP THE HOUSE COOL

Leave the air condition on and close the drapes. If you don't have an AC, leave the windows open and turn on the fan. Remember to screen your windows so pets don't wander off.

CHECK FOR TICKS

Always check for ticks after a trip outdoors especially from woody areas.

BRUSH BRUSH BRUSH

Get rid of the extra fur! Brush more often to get rid of the matted fur as pets often get rid of extra fur on warm seasons.

IT'S THE SEASON OF DISEASE

Insect activities are more alive in summer. It's best to prevent your pets from getting harmful bacteria and diseases from pesky fleas and ticks. Keep them safe with our bestseller flea and tick and heartworm medications.
